Feel inspired to find out more about the American Civil War? Here are answers to questions we are often asked.

1. I want a general understanding of the War. How do I find books on this topic?

To browse through the general histories we have, go to shelf numbers that begin 973.7.

To find books in the Library’s catalog look for SUBJECTS that begin:

UNITED STATES -- HISTORY -- CIVIL WAR, 1861-1865

For recommended Civil War reading see the following bibliography:

The following are more comprehensive:

The American Civil War Homepage.
http://sunsite.utk.edu/civil-war/warweb.htm. Contains a wide variety of links to all aspects of Civil War history.

Shotgun’s Home of the American Civil War.
www.civilwarhome.com/. Links to a wide range of Civil War topics.
2. What if I’m interested in a specific place or a particular battle?

Here are some guides to specific events and terminology of the War:

- Boatner, Mark M. The Civil War Dictionary. (R 973.703 Boa)
- Encyclopedia of the Confederacy. (R 973.713 Enc)
- Historical Times Illustrated Encyclopedia of the Civil War. (R 973.7 His)
- The Library of Congress Civil War Desk Reference. (R 973.7 Lib)
- Long, E. B. The Civil War Day By Day: an Almanac 1861-1865. (R 973.7 Lon)
- Lyman, Darryl. Civil War Quotations. (R 973.78 Civ) Includes slogans, battle cries, speeches.
- Lyman, Darryl. Civil War Wordbook. (R 973.703 Lym) Includes sayings, phrases, expletives.

Look in the Library’s catalog for “HISTORY -- CIVIL WAR, 1861-1865” as a subject after the names of the specific place, for example:

- VIRGINIA -- HISTORY -- CIVIL WAR, 1861-1865.
- PRINCE WILLIAM COUNTY (VA.) -- HISTORY -- CIVIL WAR, 1861-1865.

Also look in the catalog for names of particular battles or campaigns. The following took place in Prince William County:

- BULL RUN, 1ST BATTLE OF, VA., 1861 [Same as First Manassas].
- BULL RUN, 2ND BATTLE OF, VA., 1862 [Same as Second Manassas].
- BRISTOE STATION, BATTLE OF, VA., 1863.

Here are some works that follow events in Virginia:

- Robertson, James I. Civil War Virginia: Battleground for a Nation. (973.7 Rob, also RELIC)
- Swem, Earl G. Virginia Historical Index. (R/RELIC 975.5 Swe) Indexes Virginia historical magazines to 1930.
(Mag, also RELIC, with card index 1951-1994)

3. How do I find out what my ancestor did in the War?

The following books will show you how to find your ancestor's Civil War records:

Groene, Bertram H. Tracing your Civil War Ancestor. (929.3 Gro, also RELIC)

Morebeck, Nancy Justus. Locating Union and Confederate Records: a Guide to the Most Commonly Used Civil War Records of the National Archives and Family History Library. (929.3737 Mor, also RELIC)

Schweitzer, George. Civil War Genealogy. (929.3737 Sch, also R/RELIC)

Ancestry Library Edition includes an extensive “Civil War Collection” [electronic resource] containing many databases of persons and events.
In order to track a particular soldier you will generally need more than his full name. It is important to know where he lived and his date of birth. If you don't have that information it might be determined through a search of the 1860 and 1870 U.S. censuses. All census records and their indexes may be viewed online at Ancestry Library Edition or Heritage Quest Online [electronic resources].

The National Archives, Seventh and Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC, 20408, has military service records for the Civil War. Both Union and Confederate personnel lists are preserved there. (Confederate rosters were captured at the end of the War.) The National Archives also has pension files and bounty land warrants for Union veterans and their survivors. Pension applications usually describe the soldier's deeds during the War. Go to www.archives.gov/genealogy/military/civil-war/ for a guide to the records or to order a copy of your ancestor's service record. For more information see: Guide to Genealogical Research in the National Archives. (929.3 Uni, also R/RELIC)

The following guides to Civil War veterans may be useful:

Eleventh Census of the United States, 1890, Enumerating Union Veterans and Widows of Union Veterans of the Civil War. Schedules only for Kentucky (partial) through Wyoming, including Washington, DC, have survived. Images of those schedules can be found at Ancestry Library Edition [electronic resource] under “1890 Veteran Schedules.” RELIC has the film for Virginia. (RELIC Microfilm 312 Uni) Turner, Ronald Ray. Virginia’s Union Veterans: Eleventh Census of the United States, 1890. (RELIC 973.741 Tur) An index to the preceding. (The census takers included some Confederate veterans in error.)

The Thirteenth Census of Population, 1910, identifies veterans of the Union and Confederate Army and Navy alive at that time. The entire United States is available at Ancestry Library Edition and Heritage Quest Online [electronic resources]. RELIC has microfilm of the Virginia schedules and an index. (RELIC Microfilm 312 Uni) 1930 U.S. Federal Census identifies all surviving war veterans and the war in which they served. A complete index is available at Ancestry Library Edition [electronic resource].

Confederate rosters will be found in the archives of the states from which they served.
The following may help you find Confederate records:
The Roster of Confederate Soldiers 1861-1865. 16 vols. (RELIC 973.74 Ros)

Federal pension records are indexed at Ancestry Library Edition, “Civil War Pension Index: General Index to Pension Files, 1861-1934” [electronic resource]. This index is based on National Archives micropublication T288.

Confederate pensions may have been granted in the state where the soldier lived after the war. Virginia pension applications for Confederate soldiers are posted online at www.lva.lib.va.us/whatwehave/mil/index.htm.

A list of Confederate soldiers serving from Prince William County is printed in:

The following National Archives microfilm give information about civilians in Virginia:
Internal Revenue Assessment Lists for Virginia, 1862-66 (6 rolls). (RELIC Microfilm 929.3755 Uni)
Important source of information on ex-slaves.
Case Papers of the US District Court for Eastern District of Virginia, 1863-65, Relating to the Confiscation of Property (1 roll). (RELIC Microfilm 975.5 Uni)

The following encyclopedias detail the lives of the military leaders and other notables:
Hall, Charles B. Military Records of General Officers of the Confederate States of America. (RELIC 973.7 Hal)
Heitman, Francis B. Historical Register and Dictionary of the United States Army, 1789-1903. (RELIC 355.30973 Hei) Identifies all Army officers.
Hunt, Roger D. Brevet Brigadier Generals in Blue. (R/RELIC 973.7092 Hun)
Sifakis, Stewart. Who Was Who in the Confederacy. (R 973.7092 Sif)
Sifakis, Stewart. Who Was Who in the Union. (R 973.7092 Sif)
Warner, Ezra J. Generals in Blue: Lives of the Union Commanders. (920 War, also R)
Warner, Ezra J. Generals in Gray: Lives of the Confederate Commanders. (920 War, also R)

For additional genealogical research guidance, see the Library’s brochure “Climbing Your Family Tree.”
4. How do I find where my Civil War ancestor is buried?

Unfortunately, the exact burial place of many a Civil War soldier is unknown. If he died in battle he may have been buried in a shallow grave on the battlefield without a permanent marker. Years later his unidentified body may have been moved to a national or regional cemetery.

The key to finding his grave is to pinpoint the location of his death. Track the movements of his regiment and company through official reports and memoirs (see 5 below). You may learn that he died in a “hospital” near the battlefield or camp. Most houses surviving the shelling would have been commandeered for treating the sick and wounded. Institutional hospitals as we know them today were very rare, found only in larger cities. Look for the house closest to his regiment’s camp.

If he survived the war, his burial should be found with his family in his home state. In the 19th century it was common, especially in Virginia, for a farm to have its own family graveyard. Find the farm and, with the help of the local public library or historical society, locate any cemetery in its vicinity.

Check the following for clues to his place of burial: his service record, his hospital’s record, his military unit’s history, his obituary and death record, the burials of his next-of-kin.

For Union soldiers, try the following:

For Confederate soldiers it may be useful to contact the chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy where the soldier lived and died. The U.D.C. may have marked or recorded his place of burial.

For lists of web sites devoted to Civil War burials, go to www.civilwarhome.com/hist.htm#Cemeteries.

5. How can I track the activities of a particular military unit?

First see what has been published on that unit. The most comprehensive guide to regimental publications and personal narratives is: Dornbusch, C.E. Military Bibliography of the Civil War. (RELIC 016.97374 Dor)

Supplement to the Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies. (RELIC 973.74 Uni) A large set that contains additional reports and correspondence, plus detailed calendars for each regiment and company.

The reports will help you chart the actions of your unit. They may trace individual officers but are unlikely to tell much about recruits.

The following give details about military organizations and their campaigns: Confederate Military History. (RELIC 973.73 Con)

Welcher, Frank J. The Union Army, 1861-1865: Organization and Operations. (R 973.741 Wel)

For Virginia military units check:

Sifakis, Stewart. Compendium of the Confederate Armies. Virginia. (R/RELIC 973.7455 Sif)

The Virginia Regimental Histories Series, pub. by H. E. Howard, Inc. (RELIC 973.7455 Vir)

See http://members.aol.com/jweaver300/grayson/howard.htm for a list of Howard’s titles in print and links to other sites devoted to Virginia units.

6. How about maps showing details of battles, camps, forts, and troop movements?

Consult the following guides:

- The Atlas of the Civil War. (973.73 Atl, also R) Maps of individual battles.
- A Guide to Civil War Maps in the National Archives. (R/RELIC 016.91173 Gui)
- Illustrated Atlas of the Civil War. (973.73 Ill)
- The Official Military Atlas of the Civil War. (R/RELIC 911.73 Uni) Atlas published to accompany the OR.
- Swanson, Mark. Atlas of the Civil War, Month By Month. (973.730223 Swa, also RELIC)

For Prince William area engagements use:

- Bearss, Edwin C. Troop Movement Maps, Battle of First Manassas. (RELIC 973.731 Bea)

Local libraries and museums may have copies of maps pertinent to military activity in their area.

7. What kinds of other primary sources are available?

Consult the following guides:

- Gregory, Winifred. American Newspapers 1821-1936. (R/RELIC 071 Ame) Many newspapers of the period are available on microfilm through interlibrary loan.
- Guide to Civil War Periodicals. (RELIC 973.05 Gui)
The National Union Catalog of Manuscript Collections (NUCMC) can help you locate original manuscripts. Catalog entries since 1986 can be found at www.loc.gov/coll/nucmc/ and at www.worldcat.org. Manuscripts cataloged by NUCMC between 1959 and 1985 are accessible only through their printed catalog, available at many university libraries.

The U.S. Army Military History Institute at Carlisle Barracks, PA 17013-5008, houses one of the largest concentration of materials on the Civil War, including thousands of photos. www.carlisle.army.mil/ahec/index.htm

In the Manassas area, in addition to RELIC, the following libraries have useful materials:
Manassas National Battlefield Park, 6511 Sudley Road, Manassas, VA 20109. www.nps.gov/mana/Manassas Museum, 9101 Prince William Street, Manassas, VA 20110, mailing address P.O. Box 560, Manassas, VA 20108. www.manassascity.org/, click on Manassas Museum System.

The following series contain first-hand narratives:
The Confederate Soldier in the Civil War. (RELIC 973.742 Con)
The Confederate Veteran, 40 vol., 1893-1932 (RELIC Mag Con), with Cumulative Index. (RELIC 973.74 Con)
The Rebellion Record: a Diary of American Events, 12 vol., 1861-1868. (RELIC 973.7 Reb)
Southern Historical Society Papers [electronic resource], 52 volumes, published 1876-1959 (RELIC CD-ROM)

KEY TO LOCATION SYMBOLS USED BY PRINCE WILLIAM PUBLIC LIBRARY SYSTEM

The call number after each title in this list shows its shelf location in the Prince William Public Library System. Call numbers used in other library systems may differ.

Books with an “R” before the call number are Reference items. Those with a “RELIC” before the call number are in RELIC, the Library’s special history collection. “R” and “RELIC” books may be used only in the Library. “J” before the call number means the book is in the Library’s Juvenile collection. “Mag” means a title is filed alphabetically with other magazines. Check the Library’s catalog to learn which branches own individual titles.
