Extending Your Learning

As a teen 4-H member, you are beginning to assist other 4-H members and adults with projects and activities. Use the space below to list the ways in which you have presented your project information to others.

Example: Assisted in the nutrition class at Project and taught about the food pyramid
                Did a presentation on "Healthy Snacking" at Presentation Day and in my club Prepared a display on the importance of calcium for the library display case in Jan.

Community Service and Leadership

As a teenager it is important that you begin to participate in contributing to the quality of life in your community. One way to learn more about your project area is to become involved in a community service project – to teach others as well as help others. Describe how you have organized community service projects or provided leadership in the community so that others can benefit from your knowledge of your project?

Example: Teaching a series of photography classes to children in a homeless shelter
            Organizing a candidates forum for the local election
